

INNOVATIVE TAKES ON DISNEYLAND!

Mary Allison and Emma Hughes are Innovative Dance Company's two young pioneers. They were ecstatic to announce the launch of their second Innovative branch at Glenmore Park Public school on the Lakes Drive in 2005. The studios success in Blacktown and Glenmore Park has lead to an even more thrilling announcement for 2007. Innovative Dance Co will be offering to take students to perform at Disneyland in early 2008.

Boasting 200 students at their Blacktown studio, Innovative Dance Company now looks forward to fuelling the enthusiasm of dancers throughout the Glenmore Park and Penrith areas. Offering classes in jazz, tap, ballet and street funk, to all ages, Innovative is bound to be a great start for anyone interested in dance.

The girls were amazed at the explosive popularity of their studio, which was established to provide fun, affordable, professional dance tuition to students of all ages and abilities. "Dancing just doesn't mean competitions and eisteffods for everyone" comments Emma. "For some people it's just a great energy release, a great way to make new friends and keep fit".

"It's an exciting time for us" says Emma. "Some students are nervous to start dance classes but our friendly approach and relaxed atmosphere really makes it easy. Anyone interested is welcome to just come along and check out how we operate, with the chance to perform at Disneyland is a dream for all".

"With Innovative offering this to all, it really gives everyone a chance to go to Disneyland, they can even take the entire family" says Emma
